What Doesn't Kill You, Makes You Stronger

Hurt me. Seriously, please do! I HATE my stupid over-imaginative brain and all of it's new stupid ideas! **

Anyway, long story short. I was reading a Home & Away fanfic, called _'9 Months'_ to be specific, and I found chapter 17 so emotive and amazingly written. It just totally changed me and my view of Hammer. And through that, this story idea was inspired. *However, I didn't want another story because I'm really wanting to focus on Far From Perfection, but I REALLY wanted to write this, so I thought I'd do a one-shot, but that would just be far too long and unsuspenseful, so I'm compromising and making a short, 3/4 chapter story instead. I'll be focusing on FFP still, but updating the rest of this when I can. **

First chapters just a teaser, but let me know if you want to read more and who you think it is! The next chapter will be much longer and detailed. **

>Chapter 1:

Cleo, Bella and Rikki had gone on their usual daily swim to Mako Island, where the three currently were, or more specifically, were in the Moon Pool, chatting, joking and gossiping. Everything was fine. No troubles, no worries, nothing. Just three friends having a good time together.

However, what the girls_ didn't_ know was that they weren't alone.

Someone else was trailing up to the Moon Pool beneath the thick rainforest canopies.

Someone else knew their secret.

Someone was armed and prepared.

Someone had a motive and reason to want each girl out of her life.

And someone wasn't going to stop at anything to get what she wanted...
